

Harlingen Medical Center Employees Come Together to Donate for Family Who Recently Lost Everything in House Fire.

Harlingen – Clothes, shoes, dishes, furniture, curtains, toys, and more; were all items generously donated by Harlingen Medical Center employees to the Prado family on Friday, July 1, 2011.

The Prado family, who lost everything to an unfortunate house fire, had just welcomed a new baby boy at Harlingen Medical Center. Born amidst a tragic fire accident that left the family essentially with no home to bring baby to, HMC decided to step in and raise donations in an effort to help the family start over.

In addition to items donated, HMC employees also contributed monetary donations to the family which totaled at $550. “The response to our donation efforts was amazing,” said Letty Kretz, HMC Director of Marketing. “Everyone came together and made generous contributions to help the Prado family in any way they could.”
